Portfolio Commentary

The global market was down slightly during the month of November in local currency terms by -0.33%, whilst the AUD was relatively flat against major global currencies for the month, which resulted in a flat return of the index in Australian dollar terms.

The Fund delivered 0.78% for the month and 6.46% for the 12 months to November, outperforming the benchmark by 0.78% for the month and 5.31% over the year. During the month, the Fund benefitted from gains in Lowe's, Wells Fargo, Coca Cola, Nestle & Yum! Brands (6.37%, 4.61%, 3.73%, 1.21% & 1.05% in local currency respectively).

The Fund continues to take advantage of the relatively strong AUD by deploying cash and inflows into investee companies at prices below our assessed intrinsic value.
